About the County Council

The Oxfordshire County Council is made up of 74 councillors who are democratically elected every four years. The Council provides a range of services to Oxfordshire's 630,000 residents. These include:

schools	social & health care	libraries and museums
the fire service	roads	trading standards
land use	transport planning	waste management

Each year the Council manages £0.9 billion of public money in providing these services. Most decisions are taken by a Cabinet of 9 Councillors, which makes decisions about service priorities and spending. Some decisions will now be delegated to individual members of the Cabinet.

About Scrutiny

Scrutiny is about:

- Providing a challenge to the Cabinet
- Examining how well the Cabinet and the Authority are performing
- Influencing the Cabinet on decisions that affect local people
- Helping the Cabinet to develop Council policies
- Representing the community in Council decision making
- Promoting joined up working across the authority's work and with partners

Scrutiny is NOT about:

- Making day to day service decisions
- Investigating individual complaints.

What does this Committee do?

The Committee meets up to 6 times a year or more. It develops a work programme, which lists the issues it plans to investigate. These investigations can include whole committee investigations undertaken during the meeting, or reviews by a panel of members doing research and talking to lots of people outside of the meeting. Once an investigation is completed the Committee provides its advice to the Cabinet, the full Council or other scrutiny committees. Meetings are open to the public and all reports are available to the public unless exempt or confidential, when the items would be considered in closed session

If you have any special requirements (such as a large print version of these papers or special access facilities) please contact the officer named on the front page, giving as much notice as possible before the meeting

A hearing loop is available at County Hall.

AGENDA

1. Apologies for Absence and Temporary Appointments
2. Declarations of Interest - see guidance note on the back page
3. Minutes

To approve the minutes of the meetings held on 8 December 2009 (CH3) and to note for information any matters arising on them.

4. Speaking to or petitioning the Committee

Declarations of Interest

This note briefly summarises the position on interests which you must declare at the meeting. Please refer to the Members' Code of Conduct in Section DD of the Constitution for a fuller description.

The duty to declare ...

You must always declare any "personal interest" in a matter under consideration, ie where the matter affects (either positively or negatively):

- (i) any of the financial and other interests which you are required to notify for inclusion in the statutory Register of Members' Interests; or
- (ii) your own well-being or financial position or that of any member of your family or any person with whom you have a close association more than it would affect other people in the County.

Whose interests are included ...

"Member of your family" in (ii) above includes spouses and partners and other relatives' spouses and partners, and extends to the employment and investment interests of relatives and friends and their involvement in other bodies of various descriptions. For a full list of what "relative" covers, please see the Code of Conduct.

When and what to declare ...

The best time to make any declaration is under the agenda item "Declarations of Interest". Under the Code you must declare not later than at the start of the item concerned or (if different) as soon as the interest "becomes apparent".

In making a declaration you must state the nature of the interest.

Taking part if you have an interest ...

Having made a declaration you may still take part in the debate and vote on the matter unless your personal interest is also a "prejudicial" interest.

"Prejudicial" interests ...

A prejudicial interest is one which a member of the public knowing the relevant facts would think so significant as to be likely to affect your judgment of the public interest.

What to do if your interest is prejudicial ...

If you have a prejudicial interest in any matter under consideration, you may remain in the room but only for the purpose of making representations, answering questions or giving evidence relating to the matter under consideration, provided that the public are also allowed to attend the meeting for the same purpose, whether under a statutory right or otherwise.

Exceptions ...

There are a few circumstances where you may regard yourself as not having a prejudicial interest or may participate even though you may have one. These, together with other rules about participation in the case of a prejudicial interest, are set out in paragraphs 10 – 12 of the Code.

Seeking Advice ...

It is your responsibility to decide whether any of these provisions apply to you in particular circumstances, but you may wish to seek the advice of the Monitoring Officer before the meeting.

FOREWORD

All those involved in children's services have an overarching responsibility to keep children and young people safe. Threats to their safety can manifest themselves in many different ways. One of the subtlest, most insidious and potentially damaging is that of bullying.

We know that bullying takes many and various forms which, if left unchecked, can have a profound affect on children and young peoples' emotional well being. Bullying also can affect progress at school and, ultimately, future life chances.

Recent surveys confirm what we long suspected, despite some excellent work and many examples of good practice, significant numbers of children and young people have been bullied and continue to be bullied.

We must all continue to strive to turn the rhetoric of an abhorrence of bullying and 'zero tolerance' into a reality. This strategy and action plan are intended to help us do just that and I commend it to you.

Janet Tomlinson
Director CYP&F

OXFORDSHIRE WINNERS OF PRINCESS DIANA ANTI-BULLYING AWARD 2008

This strategy and action plan is a working document which will develop in the light of ongoing consultation and evaluation. It is informed by key stakeholders, most particularly Oxfordshire's Children and Young People, whose priorities will drive future developments.

The Legal Framework

The Children's Commissioner was appointed by the government to listen to children and understand their needs. He reports that bullying is the single most frequent cause of concern to children and he stresses the need to work together to tackle it.

The Education Act 2002 states that all schools and local authorities have a duty to 'safeguard and promote the welfare of children'

The Children Act 2004 set out a new National Framework for delivering Children's Services. In particular, it introduced the Every Child Matters (ECM) Agenda, a framework which sets out five key outcomes for children.

This act also required every local authority to produce a Children and Young People's Plan (CYPP) by 2006, stating how they were going to set about achieving these desired outcomes. Detailed inspections, the Annual Performance Assessment (APA) and the Joint Area Review (JAR) are in place to assess how much progress each local authority is making, so that the process is rigorous. Local Safeguarding Children's Boards (LSCB) have been established in all local authority areas to protect children and ensure their safety. This responsibility includes safety from bullying.

By 2008, Children's Trusts were established in each local authority. They are a partnership of the public, private, voluntary and community sectors, taking overall responsibility for developing integrated effective partnership working including anti-bullying work.

The Education and Inspections Act (EIA) 2006 'requires that head teachers must determine measures on behaviour and discipline that form the school's behaviour policy; acting in accordance with the governing body's statement of principles in so doing' (DCSF, Safe to Learn 2007, p7)

The 'Safe to Learn' guidance recommends that the governing body should consult widely in drawing up these principles and review them and the policies regularly. Good practice suggests this should be done every two years. Head teachers should also encourage good behaviour and respect of others on the part of the pupils and, in particular, prevent bullying among pupils. (p7)

The EIA 2006 widened the power and duties of head teachers to be able to address bullying issues off the school site, stating that they are empowered 'to such an extent as is reasonable, to regulate the behaviour of pupils when they are off the school site'. This is particularly pertinent to cyberbullying and bullying on school transport and the journey to and from school. The community cohesion agenda reinforced these additional responsibilities.

The strategy is embedded in the principles of the Convention on the Rights of the Child, September 1990, (<http://www.unhchr.ch/html/menu3/b/k2crc.htm>) most particularly in relation to Article 2 which:

'1. States Parties shall respect and ensure the rights set forth in the present Convention to each child within their jurisdiction without discrimination of any kind, irrespective of the child's or his or her parent's or legal guardian's race, colour, sex, language, religion, political or other opinion, national, ethnic or social origin, property, disability, birth or other status.

2. States Parties shall take all appropriate measures to ensure that the child is protected against all forms of discrimination or punishment on the basis of the status, activities, expressed opinions, or beliefs of the child's parents, legal guardians, or family members. '

Poem by Oxfordshire Young Person

Everyday I go to school,
Everyday I'm scared,
Always getting pushed and shoved,
People hurting me.

I pushed her,
And called her horrible names,
I was mean and harsh,
I was a bully.

Every second she glares at me,
Every second she yells at me,
Always talking about me,
People laughing at me.

I stole her toy,
And ripped her bag,
I was mean and harsh,
I was a bully.

Everyday she is being nice to me,
Everyday she is laughing with me,
She has changed,
And I forgive her

I played with her
And had a good time,
She is my friend,
I'm not a bully anymore

YOUNG PEOPLE INVOLVED IN ANTI-BULLYING ACTIVITIES

Guidance and Policy

The Government has made tackling bullying in schools a key priority and the Department for Children, Schools and Families (DCSF) has made it clear that all forms of bullying including those motivated by prejudice should not be tolerated.

Oxfordshire's Anti-Bullying Strategy supports the Children and Young People's Plan (CYPP) for Oxfordshire and through the CYPP addresses the Every Child Matters Agenda, most particularly the outcomes 'stay safe' and 'make a positive contribution'. The strategy relates to all children and young people in Oxfordshire aged 0 – 19.

The strategy is led and monitored by the Anti-Bullying Strategy Group. Members and the groups they represent are listed in the Contacts page. The strategy group is assisted by task groups as illustrated in the structure chart in Appendix 1. An Anti-Bullying Strategy Coordinator started in post in April 2008 to promote A/B work predominantly in schools. The strategy group is jointly chaired by the Service Manager Monitoring and Tracking and the Anti-Bullying Coordinator, and the deputy chair is the Healthy Schools Team Lead.

The Anti-Bullying Strategy is informed by a rigorous data collection system. This involves the establishment of a baseline in schools, the workplace and elsewhere. The strategy is cross-cutting and works in synergy with other strategies and initiatives such as the National Strategies, the behaviour and attendance strategy, the Healthy Schools initiative and the Social and Emotional Aspects of Learning (SEAL).

The DCSF publication 'Safe to Learn: embedding anti-bullying work in schools' is a key overarching anti-bullying guidance for schools, launched in September 2007. The Safe to Learn package of guidance also includes specialist advice on cyberbullying, homophobic bullying and bullying involving children with SEN and disabilities. This is in addition to the existing guidance, 'Bullying around Racism, Religion and Culture' issued in 2006.

Schools can also sign up to the Anti-Bullying Charter (see Appendix 2) to show their commitment to tackling all forms of bullying, and use the principles of the Charter to self-evaluate their anti-bullying policies and practices.

Definitions of Bullying

The Government defines bullying as:

Behaviour by an individual or group usually repeated over time, that intentionally hurts another individual or group either physically or emotionally. (Safe to Learn)

OfSTED's definition used in the TellUs 2 survey is:

Bullying is when someone makes you unhappy by being nasty on purpose (for example by teasing or hurting you, by taking or breaking your things, or by leaving you out).

The definition by Professor Peter Smith is:

Bullying is usually defined as aggressive behaviour that is characterised by repetition and an imbalance of power.

The behaviour involved is generally thought of as being repetitive, i.e. a victim is targeted a number of times.

Also, the victim cannot defend himself or herself easily, for one or more reasons: He or she may be outnumbered, smaller or less physically strong, less psychologically resilient than the person(s) doing the bullying, or a member of a vulnerable or marginalised group.

The Oxfordshire Children and Young People's Anti-Bullying Group definition is:

Bullying's effective if it makes you go another way to school

Bullying happens between one or more people: children, young people and adults. Sometimes it's between children or young people, sometimes between children or young people and adults. Most people have, at sometime in their lives, been both bullied and bullied someone else.

Bullying can be physical, verbal or both, and includes things like name calling, hurting someone else, threatening or teasing someone, picking on someone, taking someone else's stuff, leaving someone out, spreading rumours about someone, sending abusive texts or emails.

Bullying can take a lot of forms, but it usually happens more than once and can go on for a long time. It can be done by an individual or a group of people and usually happens when one person misuses their power and makes someone else feel powerless and unhappy. The person who's been bullied will often try and avoid contact with the bully.

Bullying can affect you throughout your life unless something is done about it.

Poem by Oxfordshire Young Person

BULLYING

- Anger. I am really angry because my friend is bullying me,
I don't know why.
'Why am I being bullied?'
It is so hard to live with
Especially at school
- Pain. My arm aches with pain,
My head burns with anger.
'Why am I being bullied?'
It is really annoying,
Should I tell?
- Sadness. My heart beats with sadness,
My friends have all deserted me
'Why am I being bullied?'
It feels like my life is over,
Should I tell?
- Happiness. I am so happy now
That I told
'I'm not being bullied anymore'
My old friends have deserted her
And came back to me.

The Views of Children and Young People

"If young people weren't involved in the Anti Bullying group then the adults might think they are doing the right thing but they're not"

I want to see people/teachers deal with bullying better

"Bullying can affect you throughout your life unless something is done about it".

"If you have been bullied and you are on the Anti Bullying group, you could feel like you are helping out other people and it might make you feel better about yourself".

I would want people to be brave and tackle what's happening

Our school has done a lot and it helped but we could probably do more

There could possibly be more staff in certain areas at breaks, lunch and the end of school

We know 51% of children and young people are being bullied, that needs to be stopped not in the future but right now

The views of children and young people are central to the development of an effective Anti-Bullying Strategy. Oxfordshire effectively consults young people and ensures their views are taken into account in order to plan and target action.

Over 300 children and young people gave their views about the draft CYPP.

They identified:

- The need for better support to tackle the problem of bullying, including everyone taking it seriously and young people having somewhere safe to go and someone to talk to;

Agencies across Oxfordshire agreed a number of priorities for improving outcomes for children and young people, one of which is:

- To improve support to schools and communities in promoting positive behaviour and emotional health and wellbeing, thereby reducing the incidence of behaviour difficulties, bullying and youth offending.

‘STAY SAFE’ outcome

Bullying was the issue which young people were most concerned about. They want adults to listen and take the problem seriously and be on top of covert bullying. They want safe “chill out” places to go in school. Above all, they want schools to involve young people in tackling bullying so that the problem is openly acknowledged and dealt with.

“People need to take bullying seriously and act on issues quickly.”

“Important to have somewhere safe to go and someone to talk to.”

The priority for improving this outcome was built on children’s views and is:

- To ensure that young people feel safe from bullying, crime and anti-social behaviour in and out of school.

The targets are:

- Reduce the percentage of young people who say that they have been bullied in the last 12 months.
- Increase the percentage of young people who say they feel safe from crime or anti-social behaviour.

Data is being collected in the Oxfordshire Children and Young People Survey as well as the National TellUs Survey and other information gathering processes.

The TellUs 3 survey 2008 indicates that:

52% of C&YP have never been bullied at school
32% of C&YP have been bullied at school once or more in the last year
5% of C&YP have been bullied at school once or more in the last four weeks
3% of C&YP have been bullied at school about once a week
6% of C&YP have been bullied at school most days
3% of C&YP don't know how often they have been bullied at school

69% of C&YP have never been bullied somewhere else (including transport to and from school)
18% of C&YP have been bullied somewhere else once in the last year
5% of C&YP have been bullied somewhere else once or more in the last four weeks
1% of C&YP have been bullied somewhere else about once a week
2% of C&YP have been bullied somewhere else most days
4% of C&YP don't know how often they have been bullied somewhere else

The Oxfordshire Children and Young People Survey 2007 shows that:

44% of primary C&YP have been bullied, threatened, kicked or punched in the last year
51% of secondary C&YP have been bullied, threatened, kicked, punched, been called 'gay' or racist names, or had a mobile phone or something else stolen in the last year
26% of Year 3 – 11 say they have been bullied in the last year
75% of those who have been bullied have told someone else
15% of Y3-11 have bullied someone else in the last year
33% of Year 7 – 11 agree there is a lot of bullying in their school

The Strategic Priorities

Oxfordshire's strategy promotes this guidance in schools and other agencies through four strategic areas:

1. Children and Young People's Voice

- a) Ensure effective consultation of young people and their involvement in the development of the Anti-Bullying Strategy
- b) Involve and promote the involvement of young people in the planning and delivery of anti-bullying projects at a strategic level and in schools and other settings
- c) Encourage young people to report bullying and improve their confidence that it will be dealt with effectively
- d) Provide information to young people to help them deal with bullying when it occurs via leaflets and website information

2. Information Management

- a) Improve the monitoring of bullying incidents to target service provision and monitor its effectiveness relating to parents
- b) Improve the monitoring of bullying incidents to target service provision and monitor its effectiveness relating to children
- c) Improve the monitoring of bullying incidents to target service provision and monitor its effectiveness relating to schools and settings

3. Supporting Schools and Settings

- a) Support schools and all agencies working with children and young people to further develop their policy and practice to prevent and effectively respond to bullying.
- b) Make available and co-ordinate accessible training for supporting adults and governors
- c) Disseminate information and resources to all schools and settings
- d) Promote the development of Peer Support schemes
- e) Work to combat homophobic bullying
- f) Work to address cyberbullying and e-safety
- g) Work to investigate and address bullying on transport to schools
- h) Developing innovative practice
- i) Work to support groups who have been identified as more vulnerable to bullying

4. Communication Strategy

- a) Develop networks and opportunities for improving communication and sharing of good anti-bullying practice
- b) Raise awareness that bullying is unacceptable and needs to be reported and responded to with young people, parents and wider community via national anti-bullying week
- c) Consult and involve parents and carers in the development of the Anti-Bullying Strategy. Ensure that communication with and involvement of parents and carers is a priority in matters relating to bullying.

Quotes from Parents from Parent Partnership Feb 2009:

"The School have been very understanding, but all that has happened over the past 4 years, is that my daughter feels excluded, because she has to come in late and be on her own during break and lunch time, while the bullies are able to be with everyone in the playground and have lots of fun"

"The other kids call him horrid names, then he lashes out and gets into trouble. He can't explain what has happened because he is so upset and feels guilty anyway"

Outcomes and Impact Monitoring and Review

Outcomes and Impact

The Children and Young People's plan aims to improve the Every Child Matters outcomes for children; Be Healthy: Stay Safe; Enjoy and Achieve: Make a Positive Contribution and Achieve Economic Well-being. Anti-bullying work is an integral part of the CYPP. Although the impact of our work is strongly focused on the 'Stay Safe' Outcome, anti-bullying work also impacts on other outcomes.

Delivering the Anti-Bullying Strategy and implementing the Action Plan are the key means of delivering on the Stay Safe outcome: aim, 'safe from bullying and discrimination' (ECM Outcomes Framework April 2008). The work also contributes to other aims, so that children and young people are 'safe from maltreatment, neglect, and sexual exploitation'; 'safe from crime and anti-social behaviour in and out of school' and that 'children have security, stability and are cared for'.

The outcome, 'Be Healthy' addresses issues of emotional health and wellbeing often associated with bullying.

The work of the strategy impacts on the 'Enjoy and Achieve' outcome. Bullying can ruin lives, ruin enjoyment, lead to fear of going to school, and the resulting poor attendance and unhappiness can impact on social and academic achievements.

Our first strategic area, 'Children and Young People's Voice', in particular has impact on the outcome, 'Make a Positive Contribution' as it encourages engagement of children and young people in the shaping and development of the strategy.

The outcome 'Achieve Economic Well-being' has an aim, 'Engage in further education training or employment on leaving school'. The preventative nature of anti-bullying work promotes this outcome.

Monitoring and Review

The Anti-Bullying Strategy is led, monitored and reviewed by the Anti-Bullying Strategy Group. Reports to the OSCB provide further monitoring of progress.

The terms of reference of the Anti-Bullying Strategy Group are as follows:

Due to imminent restructuring within OCC, the composition will be rationalised at a later date and will include representation of Localities. The group is jointly chaired by Service Manager Monitoring and Tracking and the Anti-Bullying Co-ordinator. Meetings will be held three times per year during terms one, three and five. Task groups identified in the structure chart (Appendix 1) will meet on an ad hoc basis. Task groups will update the strategy group at one meeting per year at least.

Purpose of Group:

- to ensure children and young people of Oxfordshire feel safe to learn and have positive experiences and relationships in schools and other settings.
- to analyse and respond to reports presented to the group on bullying issues
- to contribute to the development of the anti-bullying strategy and action plan
- to monitor and evaluate the implementation of the action plan for the anti-bullying strategy for Oxfordshire
- to disseminate information on anti-bullying within their own organisations and to other relevant local, regional and national groups
- to participate in relevant working parties

Acknowledgements

We would like to thank Sally Garforth, Chair of Bracknell Forest Anti-Bullying Strategy Group for sharing their Anti-Bullying Strategy and action plan with us, 'Safer Together, Safer Wherever' and allowing us to use some of their ideas and written work.

Special thanks are due to all the Children and Young People, schools and settings, parents, partners and colleagues who have helped shape this strategy.

We are delighted to illustrate this strategy document with the winning posters from the OSCB poster competition; poems by children from Lord Williams's School and photographs of children, young people and adults taking part in anti-bullying activities.

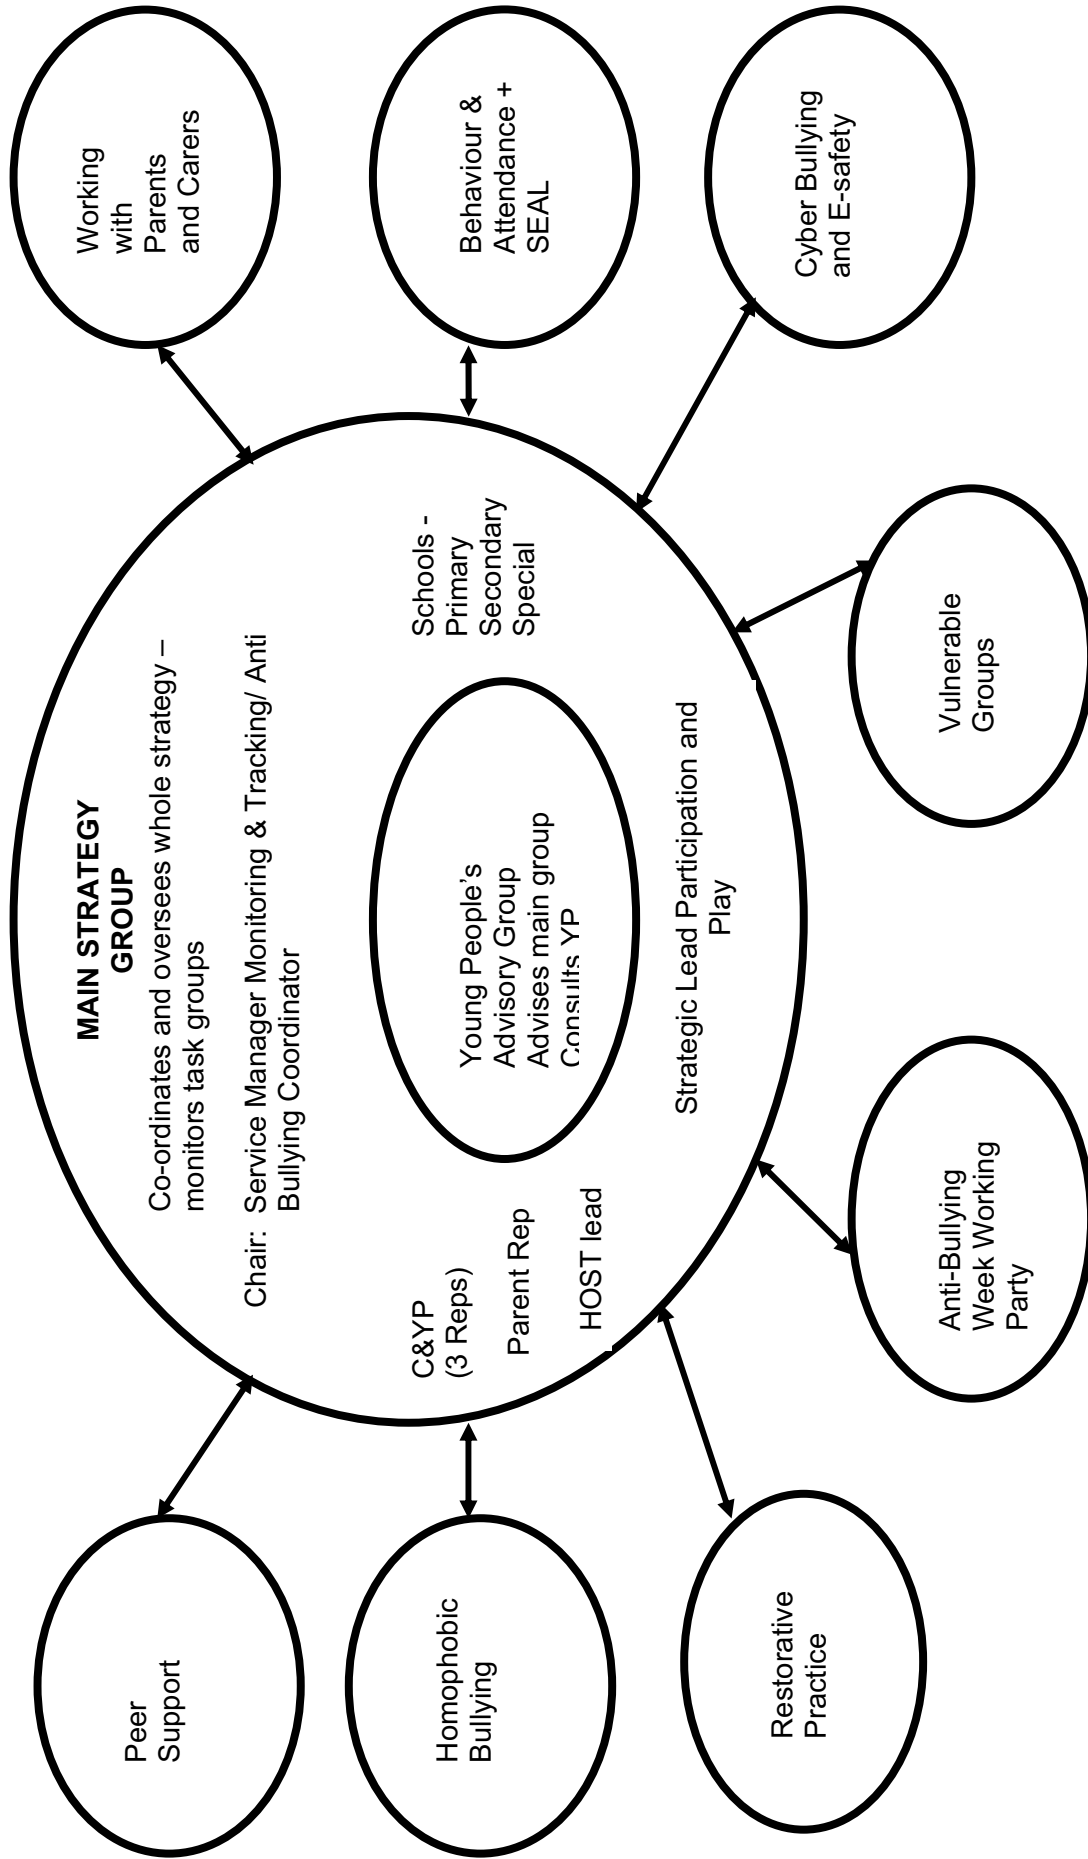

Bullying is everyone's business and an important aspect of safeguarding Children and Young People. Through partnership working the strategy is already well underway. We look forward to its continued development in the light of Children's and Young People's needs, ideas and contributions.

Anti Bullying Strategy Group – Proposed Structure

Bullying – A Charter for Action

Name of School _____

Name of Local Authority _____

We are working with staff, pupils and parents to create a school community where bullying is not tolerated.

Our school community

- ✓ Discusses, monitors and reviews our anti-bullying policy on a regular basis. Good practice suggests the policy should be reviewed on average every two years.
- ✓ Supports staff to promote positive relationships and identify and tackle bullying appropriately.
- ✓ Ensures that pupils are aware that all bullying concerns will be dealt with sensitively and effectively; that pupils feel safe to learn; and that pupils abide by the anti-bullying policy.
- ✓ Reports back quickly to parents/carers regarding their concerns on bullying and deals promptly with complaints. Parents/carers in turn work with the school to uphold the anti-bullying policy.
- ✓ Seeks to learn from anti-bullying good practice elsewhere and utilises the support of the LA and relevant organisations when appropriate.

Ideas for schools to consider

To assist schools in drawing up their anti-bullying policy, the Department has issued revised guidance to schools entitled 'Safe to Learn: Embedding Anti-Bullying Work in Schools', as well as advice and materials on prejudice-driven bullying and cyberbullying. In addition, we recommend schools use the following prompts when determining and evaluating their policy.

✓ Discuss, monitor and review

- Do we hold discussions on bullying and its definition, involving staff, children and young people, governors and parents?
- Do we keep a record of the incidence of bullying, according to our agreed definition, and analyse it for patterns – people, places, groups?
- Do we ask ourselves what makes an anti-bullying school?
- What is our school doing to ensure that our children and young people do not feel vulnerable and are safe to learn?
- Do we celebrate our successes and draw these to the attention of parents/carers?

✓ Support everyone in the school community to identify and respond

- Do we work with staff and outside agencies to identify all forms of prejudice-driven bullying (including all those listed in the 'Safe to Learn' guidance), as well as different methods of bullying, such as cyberbullying.
- Do we actively provide systematic opportunities for developing pupils' social and emotional skills to reduce bullying?
- Have we considered all the opportunities where the different sorts of bullying can be addressed – through the curriculum; through corridor displays; through the School Council; through peer support; and through teaching about online safety?
- Do we create 'special safe spaces' targeted at vulnerable children and young people? Do we train lunchtime staff, learning mentors, LSU staff to identify bullying and follow school policy and procedures on anti-bullying?

✓ Ensure that children and young people are aware that all bullying concerns will be dealt with sensitively and effectively

- Do we regularly canvass children and young people's views on the extent and nature of bullying? Do we ensure that young people know how to express worries and anxieties about bullying?
- Do we ensure that all children and young people are aware of the range of sanctions which may be applied against those engaging in bullying?
- Do we involve children and young people in anti-bullying campaigns in school?

- Do we demonstrate that we are aware of the power of peer support? Have we created and publicised schemes of peer mentoring or counselling; buddying or mediation, for example?
- Do we include the phone numbers of helplines in the school's student planners? Do we have an anti-bullying notice board? How else do we bring anti-bullying measures to children and young people's attention?
- What role does our School Council already play in our anti-bullying policy? How might that involvement be enhanced?
- Do we offer sufficient support to children and young people who have been bullied?
- Do we work with children and young people who have been bullying in order to address the problems they have?
- ✓ Ensure that parents/carers expressing bullying concerns have them taken seriously
- Do parents know whom to contact if they are worried about bullying?
- Do parents know about our complaints procedure and how to use it effectively?
- Do we work with parents and the local community to address issues beyond the school gates that give rise to bullying?
- ✓ Learn from effective anti-bullying work elsewhere
- Have we invited colleagues from a school with effective anti-bullying policies to talk to our staff?
- Have we involved local experts or the voluntary sector in any way?

CHILDREN'S SERVICES SCRUTINY COMMITTEE 23 FEBRUARY 2010

SCHOOL ADMISSIONS AND THE ECONOMIC RECESSION.

1. Admissions to Oxfordshire primary schools have been on an upward trend for a number of years:

Census point	Number of Reception age children	Increase over previous year
October* 2009	6795	111
January 2009	6684	101
January 2008	6583	587
January 2007	5996	-367
January 2006	6363

2. The number of places requested for September 2010 currently stands at 7126. We usually receive a number of 'late' applications, particularly in Oxford City, although not all of the places we finally allocate are eventually taken up. However, it looks likely that the growth in pupil numbers, which began before the effects of the recession were first felt, will continue. The single most significant factor in the increase in the number of Reception age children has been the increase in birth rates, a national phenomenon, which is likely to dwarf all other contributory factors.
3. When parents submit applications for school places they are invited to give their reasons for expressing a preference for a particular school but not their overall reasons for seeking a school place. We ask parents who, after having accepted a school place, subsequently decide not to take up the place to let us know. Not all choose to do so and of those who do, a minority volunteer the reason, including where this is because an application for a non-maintained school place has been successful.
4. Conversely, parents who apply for a place outside the 'normal admissions round' may let us know their reasons, but unless these might result in a 'late' application being considered as being 'on time' (e.g. where a major personal trauma meant a parent could not get their application in on time) there is no expectation that reasons should be given. Typically requests for places are as a result of families changing their home addresses.
5. The limited information that we do have is as follows:

There were 1862 requests between 1 August 2008 and 18 May 2009 across all year groups. Of these, 82 (36 primary age and 46 secondary age) requested a school place giving their reason for doing so as "Moving from Independent School". This represents 4.4% of the relocations we have handled.

There were 2141 requests between 1 August 2007 and 31 July 2008. Of these, 64 (21 primary age and 43 secondary age) requested a relocation giving their reason for doing so as "Moving from Independent School". This represents 2.99% of the relocations we have handled.

6. An increase of 18 requests citing "moving from independent school", just under 1.5 percentage points is unlikely to be statistically significant. In addition it only relates to those children who were already in the independent sector and were withdrawn; it sheds no light on the numbers who would have gone into the independent sector had it not been for the impact of the recession.

* The annual pupil census takes place in January. The 2010 figure is currently being validated.

CHILDREN'S SERVICES SCRUTINY COMMITTEE 23 FEBRUARY 2010

CHILDREN CENTRES

1. This report covers
 1. Update of the progress of children's centres.
 2. Annex A gives an update on the capital programme.
 3. Annex B gives a summary of the key points in the Apprenticeship, Skills, Children and Learning Act (ASCL Act) 2009 and main implications for Oxfordshire.

Background

2. Children's centres are 'one stop shops' for young children and their parents, and for childminders and other carers. They offer a friendly and safe place for parents and carers to play and have fun with their children and to get information, advice and support. They are a universal service, but particularly aim to reach vulnerable families who don't easily access services.
3. We have 45 children's centres in Oxfordshire and are now in the third and final phase of development. Phase 1 centres are in areas of the highest levels of deprivation. Funding is allocated on a formula basis taking account of the size and level of deprivation of the area served. 29 centres are well established; the remaining 16 are part of Phase 3 and still in development.

Progress of Children's Centres Development, including an Update on Premises

4. There are 45 children's centres in Oxfordshire. Sixteen of these are Phase 3 centres so are still in a relatively early stage of development. However all these are now designated as children's centres which means they are providing a minimum level of service and have plans in place for how they will move to full service delivery. Most Phase 3 centres are currently providing services from temporary premises.
5. The capital programme has presented many challenges. The government's advisers on this programme (Norfolk Property Services) have currently given Oxfordshire a red rating because our programme is due to be completed very close to the end March 2011 deadline. See Annex A for more information about progress on individual projects.
6. In a number of Phase 3 projects, which are mostly in rural areas, there has been significant local opposition to plans to develop new premises. Common factors to this oppositions include:
 - (a) Lack of understanding about what a children's centre is. We have provided information and arranged visits to established centres to help with this. A small minority are clearly opposed to the idea of and need for children's centres and are not open to persuasion.

- (b) Concerns about the impact of traffic that a children's centre may result in. Centres are required to do travel plans and where on school sites we are agreeing to stagger opening/closing times of activities at the centre so they do not overlap with busy times at the school.
7. Areas where there has been significant local opposition are indicated in the attached Annex A

Statutory Basis of Children's Centres

8. The Apprenticeship, Skills, Children and Learning Act (ASCL Act) 2009 amends the Childcare Act 2006 by defining children's centres in law and places a duty on Local Authorities (LAs) to establish and support children's centres. The Act also places duties on Primary Care Trusts (PCTs) and Job Centre Plus (JCP) as statutory "relevant partners" to enable access to early years services through children's centres. Details of relevant sections of the ACT and implications for Oxfordshire are appended as Annex B

Summary

9. Oxfordshire has been recognised by the Government Development Agency (Together for Children) as having made very good progress in its development of children's centres. Phase 1 and 2 Centres are now demonstrating their worth in terms of evidence of increasing take up of services, parental satisfaction and a 'narrowing of the gap' in attainment at the end of the Early Years Foundation Stage. However the whole national programme is embryonic and will take several years to demonstrate long term improved outcomes for children, families and communities in terms of health, education and economic and social wellbeing.
10. National and International research evidence from places where similar investment has been made in early childhood programmes demonstrates that high quality early years services and support for parents provide protective factors against later vulnerabilities and significant cost benefits.
11. There are challenges around the phase 3 centres due to opposition in a small minority of Oxfordshire communities. The current economic and political uncertainties can also be undermining in terms of the confidence of staff, parents and communities about the future commitment to and sustainability of Children's Centres and services.

(A) Arrangements for the provision of children's centresSection 5A Childcare Act 2006

1. This section defines children's centres and gives a minimum of what should be provided.
 - (a) Children's centres intended to be the first, local port of call for parents/carers needing help or advice.
 - (b) Children's centres must directly provide activities for young children on site.
 - (c) Centres do not need to provide all early childhood services on site but need to actively support parents/carers in accessing services. Reliance on signposting eg through leaflets is not sufficient
 - (d) Managed by or on behalf of LA to ensure early childhood services delivered in an integrated way
2. LAs under a duty to secure sufficient children's centre provision for their area. Determining what is sufficient needs to be done with PCT, JCP and other Children's Trust partners and local communities.
3. LAs need to ensure centres are configured to meet needs of communities, especially the most deprived.

Implications for Oxfordshire

Oxfordshire is well on the way to meeting these duties and a highly regarded Local Authority by the national development agency monitoring the programme. Currently some centres may not be sufficiently proactive about supporting families to access additional services not provided on site

(B) Duty on LAs, PCTs and JCP to consider providing services through a children's centre.Section 5E, Childcare Act 2006

The Act places a duty on the LA, PCT and JCP to consider whether each of the early childhood services they provide (or commission others to provide on their behalf) should be provided through a children's centre. Guidance suggests that this exercise should be documented and reasons for decisions noted, in particular when the decision is not to deliver the service through the children's centre. There should be strong reasons not to provide services through children's centres. Decisions should be regularly reviewed and involve consultation with local communities. A key criterion should be whether providing the service through a children's centre is likely to improve access, especially for disadvantaged parents and improve outcomes for young children.

Implications for Oxfordshire

We have began work on drawing up Partnership Agreements with the PCT and will be doing the same with JCP to look at what service provision could be delivered through children's centres.

This exercise could take a significant amount of time if backdated and done for each locality/children's centre area.

(C) Children's Centres: Consultation

Section 5D, Childcare Act 2006

The Act stresses the importance of consultation before

1. Establishing a new children's centre
2. Before making any significant change to services at an existing children's centre
3. Before closing or substantially reducing services at a children's centre to the extent that it is no longer meets statutory definition of a children's centre

The term significant change is not defined but the example given indicates a centre would be expected to consult if they changed the location of the service, the day a service was delivered or if they reduced the service or no provided a service. The balance should be in favour of consultation before making changes to services that families rely on.

The guidance lists stakeholders who should be consulted including Children's Trust partners, advisory boards, elected members, other service providers including local voluntary organisations and parents/carers

The guidance says there should be a presumption against closure for children's centres. In drawing up a case for closing a centre, the LA needs to demonstrate how outcomes for children, particularly the most disadvantaged would be improved and better value for money secured by the centre closing rather than it remaining open.

Implications for Oxfordshire

There is an extensive programme of consultation in place for new centres

The message needs to be communicated to children's centres to ensure they are consulting appropriately before making significant changes to their programmes

There is some concern given the uncertain economic and political climate about how funding will come to the Local Authority after the current grant period comes to an end in March 2011,

(D) Children's Centres: Advisory Boards

Section 5C, Childcare Act 2006

LAs have a statutory duty to make arrangements to secure that each of its children's centres are under the remit of an advisory board. Several centres can cluster together to share an advisory board but if so, parents still need to be engaged at a local children's centre level.

Advisory boards will not have a legal identity, will provide strategic oversight. They should have terms of reference with representation from key partners including PCT, JCP, local community, local service providers, 2-3 parents/carers. The board should reflect the local families and the local community. The chair should be independent and not the children's centre manager.

Implications for Oxfordshire

The guidance doesn't explain how the advisory board will sit alongside school governance arrangements. Children's centres managed by schools do not have advisory boards as Oxfordshire has made the assumption that schools are not expected to set up an additional layer of governance in the form of an advisory board but are encouraged to make sure their arrangements include the wide representation detailed in the guidance

(E) Inspection

Sections 98A-G Childcare Act 2006

The Act gives Ofsted a duty to inspect children's centres. Inspections will be outcome focused and will look for evidence of impact services are having on children's outcomes and the effectiveness of integrated services.

The LA has a duty to act in response to inspection findings. This will include ensuring a clear action plan is produced, distributed to key parties and displayed in the children's centre and other relevant places and that progress on the action plan is monitored to ensure the necessary improvement results.

Implications for Oxfordshire

Oxfordshire has been part of the Ofsted inspection pilot so we are already working on this. We will need to get systems in place to support centres and make sure LA duties are reflected in Service Level Agreements and contract with our partners managing children's centres. Our existing service specification will also need to be updated to reflect the Ofsted framework. This will be a focus for our work in the coming year.

(F) Safeguarding

Section 200, ASCL Act

The Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006 has been amended to add children's centres to the list of establishments subject to the new Vetting and Barring Scheme.

Anyone working in a centre on a regular basis where the work gives an opportunity to have contact with children (whether supervised or not) will have to register with the Independent Safeguarding Authority.

Where staff working in a children's centre are employed by another agency, the LA needs to ensure that written agreements clarify responsibilities for undertaking checks and storing records. Normally the 3rd party provider will check their own staff and keep records and confirm with the LA/centre manager/school governing body that this has been done.

All children's centres need to have a person at the centre designated to lead on safeguarding. The responsibilities of this role are outlined

Implications for Oxfordshire

Our safeguarding guidance to children's centres is being updated to take changes into account.

Guidance from Ofsted is expected be available at end of March over what information children's centres are expected to hold in relation to CRB clearance from staff working in the centre but employed by other agencies.

We are also waiting to get written assurances from key partner agencies that their staff are CRB checked; this is understood to be in progress with regards to the PCT. Currently JCP staff are not routinely checked by their agency, but this will change in future.

Clarity from the Government is needed on what constitutes working in a centre on a regular basis.

(G) Having regard to the other services available in the local area

Section 3(4A), Childcare Act 2006

The LA needs to give consideration to the local childcare market in deciding whether or not a children's centre should directly provide childcare on site or whether there is sufficient accessible childcare already in the area.

Implications for Oxfordshire

Childcare

The DCSF released draft Childcare Sufficiency and Assessment Guidance for consultation in December 2009 which will shape our next full Childcare Sufficiency Assessment Report and Action Plan for 2011. This updates and combines two earlier pieces of guidance for Childcare Sufficiency Assessments and Securing Sufficient Childcare.

There are relatively few changes, but a clearer focus on addressing the needs of specific groups including disabled children, children from black and minority ethnic groups, looked after children, families living in rural areas and Armed Forces families. Work with children's centres and other key partners will be crucial in meeting these challenges.

Workforce and training

The Children's Workforce Development Council are working to develop more appropriate qualifications for children's centre staff e.g. a Unit on Outreach Work which will be on the new Qualifications and Credit Framework and which we are planning to access when available.

Children's centres providing childcare are required to employ early years practitioners with Early Years Professional status. These are in place in some full offer centres (a requirement by 2010). There has been a reluctance by some qualified teachers to access the validation pathway. Centres have been visited by the training team to encourage this.

We are using Graduate Leader Fund to support Childminder Early Years Professionals (only one currently) to work with childminders to improve quality in several centres.

Some children's centre officers have completed Training for Trainers to enable them to offer whole-centre safeguarding training. We are also developing a training DVD for use by centre managers.
