Children and Young People's Plan

A child first county: improving positive life experiences for Oxfordshire's children and young people

OXFORDSHIRE
COUNTY COUNCIL

Councillor John Howson, Cabinet Member for Children, Education and Young People's Services

“The Oxfordshire Children and Young People’s Plan 2024 - 2028 outlines a partnership vision for improving the wellbeing and outcomes for all children and young people in Oxfordshire.

“Every child and young person will have the best possible start in life, the county will be a great place to grow up in and children and young people will have opportunities to become everything they want to be. These life chances will be reflected equally across our rural and urban communities.

“The Children’s Trust will oversee and monitor the delivery of the plan ensuring that partners – county, city and district councils, police, health, education, the voluntary and community sector – all work together effectively across children’s services.

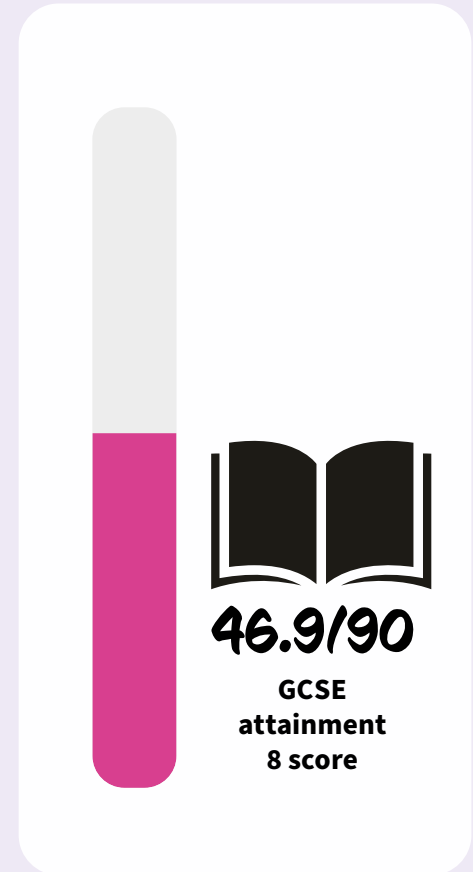

“Our plan sets out a range of priorities and outcomes for children in their early years and as they grow into young people. We will listen to and involve children and young people so we understand what matters to them and use this to shape future services. Putting the voices of children and young people at the heart of our collective work is crucial to delivering our ambitions.

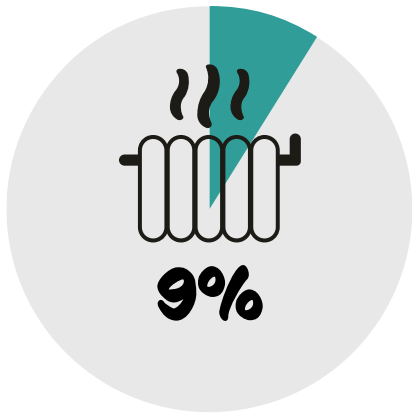

“This plan provides the foundation to support children and young people, along with their families, to thrive. Together, we can build brighter futures for every child in Oxfordshire!”

Context and ambition

- The Oxfordshire Children and Young People's Plan is the high-level strategic ambition for all children and young people in Oxfordshire.
- This is a partnership and stakeholder plan that aims to improve the wellbeing and outcomes for all children and young people in Oxfordshire.
- The priorities in the plan are underpinned by data, intelligence and analysis of outcomes for children and young people, and are informed by feedback received from ongoing engagement and consultation with children, young people and their families.
- The direction, delivery and assurance of the plan is overseen by the Oxfordshire Children's Trust arrangements, which is the 'child focused' function of the Health and Wellbeing Board.

Start well and early help

Priorities

- All children should have the best start in life.
- All children should be ready for school and additional support is given in our most deprived neighbourhoods and disadvantaged groups.
- More children and their families take up the opportunity of early years education and childcare, especially those with additional needs.

Outcomes

- Our children in their earliest years have their health and development checks, and support is given to enhance their wellbeing and potential.
- Our rising fives (children aged four or five) are ready for school and are at their optimum health, physical and social development.
- Early years children access opportunities for play, learning and development through provision.
- Children in need of additional support are identified, including those entitled to free school meals and those with special educational needs and disabilities (SEND).
- More children are assessed and identified for speech, language and communication development in early years.

Live well: young lives

Priorities

- Keeping children and young people safe from harm.
- Providing help and support across the system at the earliest opportunity.
- Improving the experience of good mental health and emotional wellbeing of children and young people.
- Supporting children and young people with caring responsibilities.

Outcomes

- More children are safe at home and in their communities.
- Universal and early help is available to children and young people and their families at an earlier stage.
- More children and young people report a more 'contented' view of their lives and where they live. They increasingly know where to get advice and support when they have worries.
- Young carers are increasingly recognised and the partnership system provides greater opportunities to support them.

Achieve well

Priorities

- Improve school experience.
- Improve school attendance.
- Narrow the disadvantage gap across all key stages, while continuing to support positive outcomes for all.
- Ensure preparedness and support for all young people on their journey to meaningful employment, education and training.
- Where young people continue to draw on care and support in adulthood, we work together to ensure they are encouraged to live as independently as possible and are confident moving into adulthood.

Outcomes

- Children routinely have a school place, have high attendance and can access learning.
- More children have better educational outcomes and fulfil their potential.
- More young people from an earlier age are helped to prepare for their futures as young adults.
- Early help and prevention reduces the number of young people at risk of youth violence, harm outside the home and entering the criminal justice system.

Voices of children and young people

Priorities

- Children are young residents, and Oxfordshire is a place that caters for their needs.
- Services across Oxfordshire are designed to meet the needs of young residents and respond to what matters to them.
- Decisions are taken and services commissioned that take into account the wellbeing of future generations.

Outcomes

- The views of a wide range of children and young people help shape the strategic plans of the council and partnerships.
- Children and young people are able to let decision makers know what matters to them through a wide variety of channels.
- Intergenerational fairness is put at the heart of the council's decision-making.

Overarching strategies

All commissioning strategies and activity are guided by our joint Health and Wellbeing Strategy and the Oxfordshire Way strategic approach. Strategies are informed by analysis of our Joint Strategic Needs Assessment through co-production and public engagement.
